Volunteer Agreement

As a non-profit organization that handles many homeless animals, AARF does not always have a complete medical or behavioral history for animals with which volunteers may work. While some training may be provided, a certain amount of risk is always involved with unpredictable animals. AARF strongly recommends that all volunteers have current tetanus vaccinations and that those who with suppressed immune systems consult with a physician prior to volunteering. In consideration of this opportunity to volunteer with AARF, I agree to the following terms and conditions:

I recognize that animals may carry disease and assume the risk of being bitten, scratched or injured in connection with my volunteer work with AARF.

I understand that is the policy of AARF to not disclose information about animals' former owners to potential adopters. Any discussions regarding potential adopters must be confined to an area not accessible to the general public.

Volunteers are a reflection of AARF. I will treat all animals, people and property I come in contact with at AARF with respect. I will refrain from using profanity and conduct myself with courtesy at all times.

If I stop being a volunteer, or upon request of AARF, I will promptly return all AARF supplies, equipment, animals, moneys or other items in good condition.

I have accurately and truthfully completed this volunteer application and agreement.

Parental Consent:

_____ has my consent to serve as a volunteer of Animal Adoption and Rescue Foundation. I realize and understand that in order for my child to volunteer, myself, or another parent must attend an orientation with said child to go over all policies and procedures pertaining to the volunteer work said child will be performing. At this time, the attending parent will sign a document releasing Animal Adoption and Rescue Foundation from any liabilities while said child is performing volunteer duties for AARF. AARF will also reserve the right to terminate any child from volunteer duties who does not follow the guidelines given during orientation.
